THE BRITISH COLONY.

D. L. Clark arrived in Edmonton the first of the week from Battleford. He has spent some time in the British colony in the Saskatchewan Valley and reports matters in a very fair condition. Prospects are bright for a final and happy settlement of affairs. The great grievance of the colony is the store syndicate. The syndicate is composed of their own people and it charges exorbitant prices for provisions and supplies. They claim that at the end of the year they will divide their profits with the colonists, but the people have little faith in this promise. The colonists have spread out to a great extent among many Canadian and American farmers. The people are greatly pleased with the country and with the government and only regret the presence of the store syndicate. Mr. Clark is filling a large order for carpenters and wheelers for the colonists, who have secured the contract for the grading of twenty-five miles of railroad in the colony from the Canadian Northern Railway Company. Mr. Clark will return to Fort Pitt in a few days.

LOCAL

—Robt. Oehner will erect a three story brick hotel at Fort Saskatchewan.

—This morning's south bound train was loaded with people returning from the Edmonton exhibition.

—Dan Goffrey, the famous bandmaster of the Grenadier Guards, died on Tuesday morning in England.

—Rev. Sidney Brook, Methodist missionary, late of Stony Plain, left yesterday for his new field of labor, Altamont, Manitoba.

—S. B. McKnight, of Forest Mills, Ontario was in town for the fair and before leaving purchased a section of land and town lot.

—The first number of the Leduc Record has been received at this office. It is a neat four-page paper with extensive advertising patronage.

—The Calgary fire brigade band left for the south this morning. The band boys were very popular in Edmonton, being very liberal with their music, which was greatly enjoyed by all.

—An excellent exhibit of fireworks will be given on the exhibition grounds tonight. There will also be foot races, Indian dances and other minor attractions.

—At a meeting of the members of the British colony in the Saskatchewan valley held recently it was unanimously resolved that the name of the whole district should be called Britannia, and Lloydminster was selected as the name of the first post office in the colony.

—Presbyterian anniversary services will be held on Sunday next, July 5th, and will be conducted by the Rev. Prof. Scrimger, of Montreal. A tea and entertainment will be held Monday evening at 6 p.m. A good program has been prepared.

—Jas. Ross, of P. Anderson & Co., brickmakers, received a telegram this week from Southern Alberta inquiring if twelve million pressed brick could be supplied by them and shipped south on short notice. Edmonton pressed brick is finding a ready market everywhere within reasonable range.

LIVE STOCK EXHIBIT

The live stock exhibit at the exhibition was large and of a very superior character. This reveals the increased interest that is being taken in the raising of purebred stock and shows very significantly the material advancement of the farmers of the district.

In horses as a whole the exhibits were numerous and especially so in some of the classes. The exhibit of heavy draught registered stallions was especially good; there being five entries and the competition very keen. John A. McPherson was the director in charge.

The cattle exhibit was perhaps the best part of the whole exhibition. All the entries under this class were of an especially high quality and the judging was very close. There was a particularly large show of Shorthorn cattle. S. R. English had a herd of eleven Shorthorns with which he carried off a number of good prizes. A two year old bull which took first prize was an especially fine animal. S. Ottewill and Geo. Wren, of Clover Bar exhibited a herd of seven excellent Shorthorn cattle. F. Talbot, M.L.A., Lacombe, had a herd of seven Shorthorns. These were an especially fine group of animals, the aged bull carried off the first prize in his class and also took the Sweepstakes. This herd also took first as a herd and took seven firsts and one second prize. W. Beres and Geo. Wren, of a large number of farmers in the Edmonton district had single entries. The animals were all of a uniformly excellent quality but space prevents a mention of all the exhibitors. In the Fallow-Angus class, although the entries were not nearly so numerous the character of the exhibit was beyond the average. A. B. Potter, of Montgomery, Assn., had an excellent exhibit of Holstein cattle. The herd, which consisted of seven fine animals carried off a large number of prizes. W. F. Wilkinson, of Clover Bar, exhibited a small herd of excellent Galloways. In the dairy cows the exhibits were large. J. C. Crawford was one of the p.m. in p.m. in this class. In beef cattle there were a variety of entries. Jas. Young and Jas. Hereford, of the Edmonton district being the principal exhibitors. There was also a number of entries in the grade cattle class. John Kennedy was the director in charge of the cattle exhibit.

In the sheep division the entries were fairly large. J. R. Thompson was one of the principal exhibitors in both the long wool and short wool classes. Messrs. Hutchings, Kennedy and Wilkinson were also exhibitors in this class. J. Kennedy was the director in charge.

In swine there was a large number of entries. Swift Bros. of Clover Bar, made a regular sweep of the prizes in their line of exhibit. A. B. Potter, of Montgomery, Assn., had a large exhibit of Yorkshire and Messrs. T. Daily and Scammon, of this district, were the principal exhibitors in Tamworths. Other exhibitors were W. F. Wilkinson, Berkshires; Mr. Redmond, Berkshires; Jas. Tough, Bacon Pigs; Jas. Tough, Poland Guinea. Altogether the swine exhibit was an especially creditable one.

PERSONAL

J. Whitelaw returned from Toronto last night.

A. Lee, Calgary, attended the Edmonton Exhibition this week.

A. Cooper, general merchant, Didsbury was in Edmonton yesterday on business.

J. J. Sullivan and Freeman Carr, of Wingham, Ont., are visiting Edmonton this week. They are taking a trip through the west looking over the country.

LAST DAY OF THE FAIR

The final day of the Edmonton Exhibition was marked by frequent showers of rain, which kept hundreds away. However a very large number turned out to the fair grounds and the large grand stand was well filled. In the morning the stock parade attracted a great deal of attention. The parade was large and included some very fine animals. In the afternoon the great drawing card was the races. The free-for-all, for a purse of $600, took place. The race track was muddy from the showers that fell every few minutes and part of the races were not pulled off until the evening. The elaborate fireworks program which was prepared for the evening and which had to be postponed on account of the rain will be given this evening. The Calgary fire brigade band furnished excellent music throughout the day.

FRIDAY, JULY 3RD, 1903.

FROM OTTAWA

June 26th, 1903
Bulletin Correspondence.

If there is one department of the present administration that is conducted with a keen eye to business, and to the best interests of the country in general, and especially of the farming community, without accusation of either incompetence or corruption, it is the agricultural department, under the administration of the Hon. Mr. Fisher. Since he took over the administration of the department the creamery business has been established on a broad foundation in the Northwest, a complete system of cold storage transportation for perishable farm produce has been established and extended from the first center of production in Canada to the last center of distribution in Britain. Millions of dollars worth of Canadian produce has been marketed through the actual agency of the agricultural department to the British government, and in all branches there has been an active and energetic supervision to the benefit of the farming industry in all parts of the Dominion. But for some unexplained reason this department, its administration, and particularly its administrative head has been singled out for irritating objection and obstruction, if not actual attack, by the opposition during this session. Whenever the minister of agriculture has appeared before the House in presenting his estimates or advocating improved legislation, he has been met by the most persistent obstruction and iniquitous criticism. Two weeks ago the House was held in session until after six o'clock in the morning on one item in his estimates without there being the shadow of an excuse for such a course. Last night another sample of these obstructive tactics was given. It appears that the British government, in the fulfillment of its promise to provide cattle for the restocking of the Boer farms in South Africa has purchased a number of cattle for this purpose in Texas. When the minister of agriculture became aware that such purchases were to be made, he at once presented the claims of Canada as the field for purchase, through the High Commissioner, Lord Strathcona. Apparently the British government did not find that they could get in Canada the class of cattle they wanted at the price they were able to get them elsewhere, and therefore did not do so.

This action of the British government was made the basis of a motion of want of confidence by Mr. Rufus Pope M. P. for Compton, Quebec, the constituency adjoining that represented by the Hon. Mr. Fisher. Apparently there is some special animosity on the part of Mr. Pope towards the minister, for he never loses an opportunity to misrepresent the minister or belittle his work. His motion was that the House regretted that the government had not taken more active measures to secure the purchase of these cattle in Canada. This was made the text for a number of speeches by members of the opposition on the subjects of preferential trade, unity of the empire, protection versus free trade, and in fact almost every subject connected with Canadian or Imperial politics except the subject of the responsibility of the British government to the British taxpayer of securing the best possible value for what must necessarily be a very distasteful expenditure. It is not too much to say that the character of the debate from the opposition benches was anything but creditable to the good judgment of parliament, and was a very strong reflection on the common sense of the Canadian people. It was evidently intended to represent to the farming community that the minister of agriculture was a failure in caring for their immediate interests. The effort being, by magnifying the present instance, to draw attention away from the good work that the minister and his department are doing, and if properly supported, will do in the future—work which constitutes a part of the policy of the department of agriculture, and which was begun under the present minister. If his policy and administration, which has been of such great benefit to the farming community, could be discredited on a matter for which he was in no way responsible, it would certainly be a good political point for the opposition.

but of little credit to the judgment of the country. The reasons which would induce the British government to purchase the cattle required in Texas rather than in Canada are few and simple. Canadian cattle are high class and naturally of comparatively high price. They are stable reared and adapted to a northern climate. High class cattle are not so much required at present in South Africa, as cattle that will rustle satisfactorily on poor pasture and that will stand an intensely hot and also changeable climate. Texas cattle fulfill these conditions better than Canadian cattle, and besides are very much less in price. When the minister knew that cattle were wanted it was his duty to call the attention of the British government to what Canada had to offer; but having done this and the British government having decided that it could secure its requirements to better advantage elsewhere, there was no blame to be attached either to the minister of agriculture or to the British government, nor any occasion for a vote of censure on him or a threat to disrupt the Empire as against them.

June 27, 1903.
Bulletin Correspondence.

The Railway Commission Bill was up for consideration yesterday afternoon and a very lively discussion took place on an amendment proposed by W. F. McLean, M. P. for East York, and proprietor of the Toronto World, to compel railway companies to admit telephones of any line into the railway stations. The cause of the proposed amendment was an agreement entered into between the Canadian Pacific Railway Company and the Bell Telephone Company, whereby the railway company agreed not to allow the phones of any other company to be placed in the C. P. R. stations. The effect of this agreement was to practically render telephone systems in opposition to the Bell system useless, especially in small country places. At a village called Locust Hill on the C. P. R. line in East York the people after endeavoring to get the Bell company to give them a service had established a small local system chiefly for the purpose of communicating quickly with the railway station. Under the agreement between the railway company and the Bell company this system was denied entrance to the railway station and thereby its usefulness was destroyed. The course of the debate showed that if the Bell company were allowed this advantage over opposition systems, it placed that company absolutely in control, especially in small villages or country places along the C. P. R. lines. The minister of railways opposed the motion on the ground that it would unduly inconvenience the railway company to require it to attend to more than one phone in a railway station. The debate was taken part in by Messrs. McLean, Clarke, Lennox, Sproule, Kendall and Oliver, all of whom supported the principle of the amendment. At the conclusion of the debate the minister promised to take the principle of Mr. McLean's proposed amendment into his consideration, and on that understanding the amendment was withdrawn for the time being.

During the course of the debate Mr. McLean made a savage attack on the minister of railways, indicating that the minister's attitude on the question the result of which was to support the Bell monopoly, arose from his connection as president of the New Brunswick Telephone Company, which Mr. McLean asserted was a part of the Bell organization. He called upon the premier to ask for the resignation of the minister of railways on this ground. The premier replied that it was not a crime to hold stock or office in a telephone company, even in the Bell company. In any case it was not the Bell company that was under discussion. It was a general provision in a general act and therefore, Mr. McLean's objections did not apply. Had it not been for the conciliatory policy adopted by Mr. Clarke, Mr. McLean's course would have inevitably resulted in the defeat of his amendment. It was in deference to Mr. Clarke's suggestion, based on the promise of the minister of favorable consideration, that he withdrew it. There is very little doubt, in view of the discussion that took place, but that the rights of independent telephone companies will be protected by their being given entrance to railway stations, subject to the decision of the railway commission, and irrespective of any private agreement between any one telephone company and the railway company.

AGRICULTURAL HALL

At every exhibition one of the main points of attraction is the agricultural hall where all the smaller exhibits are shown. The Edmonton Agricultural Hall is a spacious two storey building, standing on the east side of the grounds and to the rear of the grand stand. This year the hall was well filled with exhibits which were neatly and tastefully arranged. From morning until evening each of the three days of the fair, the hall was filled with people. Such a grouping of exhibits is a liberal education to those inclined to study the efforts of others as an aid to their own work along kindred lines. There was no rushing through the hall with a vacant stare at the articles on exhibition, but on every side could be seen careful and close examination of the exhibits. A person could not fail to be benefited by his visit to the hall and from studying the exhibits he will be spurred on to renewed efforts himself. This is where the greatest good results from an exhibition.

On entering the hall a person is struck with the variety of the exhibits. The Brackman-Ker Milling Company have a very attractive display of their products. A pyramid of different sized bags of flour and oatmeal occupies the central part of the exhibit. Small boxes contain oats in their different stages of milling and also samples of their own manufactures, such as wheat flakes, pot and pearl barley, rolled Alberta and granulated wheat. An interesting feature in connection with this exhibit is the farmers' register. In this is kept, as far as possible, a tabulated record of the farming operations in the Edmonton district. The farmer registers his name, amount of land under crop, amount of yearly increase in seedling, quantity of grain raised etc. The scheme was very successful as was evidenced by the number of farmers who inscribed their names and the other information. The next exhibit was several handsome Newcombe pianos and organs by Wm. C. Pratt, Edmonton. The compartment was nicely carpeted and handsomely arranged with a splendid oil painting by Henderson & Company, Edmonton, as a background. Music was dispensed throughout the fair days, to the enjoyment of the crowds in the hall. These two exhibits took up one side of the first floor. Down the center of the building was a stand and on this were arranged some excellent samples of grain and grasses. The samples showed a very great growth for this year. The sheaves of wheat and oats of last year revealed the excellent quality of the grain raised in the Edmonton district. Exhibits which surprised many were clover and timothy especially the former. The idea prevails that clover will not thrive in northern Alberta. A glance at the clover on exhibition reveals the absurdity of this opinion. The exhibit of cut flowers was fair, but not nearly as large as it might have been. In this district, where the most beautiful wild flowers almost cover the ground, one would naturally look for a splendid exhibit under this class. The exhibit of house plants was very good, although there are in Edmonton dozens of private houses the windows of which present a much more beautiful display of plants. The display of garden vegetables was extensive. Some excellent potatoes, the like of which only Alberta can produce, called for very favorable criticism. Rhubarb, carrots, cabbages, cabbins, cauliflowers, cucumbers, etc., showed excellent growth and very superior quality. The Gallagher-Hu-1 pork packing establishment had an excellent display of their meat had an excellent display of their manufactured meats. The arrangement of the exhibit was striking and the large letters, G. & H. Co., which were formed by sausages, attracted considerable attention. The exhibits of hams, smoked backs, smoked bacon, etc., were exceedingly good. The lard, etc., were also very good. The next in order was a large exhibit of the De Laval cream separators. Three of the De Laval cream separators and the machines were put in operation for the benefit of the visitors who were interested. The exhibit was nicely decked with flags. The butter exhibits were very good, but not by any means as numerous as one might expect. The butter was exhibited in large cases, in which were also kept blocks of ice to keep the butter fresh and cool. The grain exhibit was rather small, but the samples were very good. Latta & Lyons had an interesting horse show exhibit. This concludes the exhibits on the first floor. In the second storey a different style of exhibit was evident.

An excellent exhibit of the goods manufactured by the Edmonton Woolen Mills occupied a prominent place. The exhibit includes blankets, cloth, yarn, etc., all very neatly arranged. The exhibit of ladies' fancy work, etc., was very large. A large number of entries were made for the sofa cushion class. Many of the exhibitors reside in Edmonton and Strathcona, but there were several entries from Woodstock, Ontario. An exceedingly interesting exhibit, although there were no prizes given, was the display of curios. The curios were made by Mr. Alexander Normal, taxidermist, Edmonton. The curios were made by Mr. Normal from objects shipped to him from the Yellowstone national park, and are deserving of the greatest praise. The exhibit includes lockets, fancy shell boxes, crosses and hat pins. In connection with this exhibit there are several genuine Buffalo horns, nicely mounted. Potter and McDougall's exhibit of seeds, poultry food, grains, etc., was very good and nicely arranged. The exhibit of bread and buns was, to say the least, very poor. Not that those which were shown were poor, but there were so few entries. The exhibit of home made soap was very good. There were some excellent displays of canned fruits and pure Alberta honey, in the comb and in jars. C. W. Mathers had an exceedingly good exhibit of cabinet portraits, views, etc. This display was very much admired by all. Some very beautiful oil paintings and crayon drawings were exhibited. Too much cannot be said with reference to the ability displayed by the children who handed in many pencil drawings. The entries were numerous and the work exceedingly clever. The schools of the surrounding districts and of Edmonton, including the Convent, furnished many samples of both writing and drawing which were a distinct credit to the pupils themselves and also to their teachers. Some excellent maps of the Dominion of Canada and of North America were exhibited. Some very creditable entries were made in the class, collection of wild flowers, pressed and mounted. Miss Nellie E. Clare, of Belmont school district, carried off the first prize for this work. Taken as a whole the exhibits in the Agricultural Hall were exceedingly satisfactory. However there are a large number of people who never exhibit but who could, and their exhibits would be a credit to the exhibition. For next year some special means should be adopted to get the exhibits many times larger than they have been any year yet, for the Agricultural Hall exhibit is one of the most important parts of a successful exhibition.

Foreign Companies Ordinance

Free Press. Regina, June 27.—An important test case was started before Mr. William Trant, J. P., today. It will be remembered that the Northwest Assembly passed a foreign companies' ordinance last year, providing amongst other things, that no foreign company should do business in the Territories without first registering and paying a prescribed fee. This ordinance was disallowed by the Governor General in council as being ultra vires. At the last session of the Assembly Premier Baulin declared his readiness to concede some of the points raised by the federal authorities, but stood firmly to the right of the Territories and insist on registration, and an ordinance was passed enacting such a provision. Premier Baulin stating he would take the first opportunity of would take the first opportunity of would take the question of ultra vires, having been raised in the courts. The opportunity was created. Mr. E. J. Wright, deputy territorial secretary, summoned the Massey-Harris Co., being a foreign company, for doing business in the Territories without being registered. Mr. Horace Harvey, deputy attorney-general, appeared for the Northwest government, and Mr. Norman Mackenzie for the defendant company. The facts were admitted and Mr. Trant imposed a penalty of one dollar and on request, stated a case on the question of ultra vires for the supreme court, which will be in session at Calgary early in July.

J. J. Hill Will Invade the Canadian West.

"Talking of your big crop and the improvements being made by the railroad companies, both in the way of rolling stock and the increase in elevator capacity at the head of the lakes, reminds me of a rumor that I heard in St. Paul to the effect that the Great Northern was about to break into Manitoba and secure a piece of the grain hauling business from the Canadian Pacific and Canadian Northern railways," said a well known railroad man from the south who was in the city yesterday.

"The rumor came to me from a man who is well in the confidence of Jim Hill, and is regarded as a fact in the Twin Cities. It is not a new scheme on the part of Hill, for it was known ever since he got practical control of the Northern Pacific that he intended invading Manitoba with one of his companies. For a long time the idea prevailed that on account of the fact that the Northern Pacific was established in the province, that he would lease its lines to the Canadian Northern, the opinion has changed and the Great Northern is the favorite. That he will do it with one or other of his lines is regarded as beyond any doubt."

"The time is now ripe for this invasion, and it is expected that before the snow flies construction will be started and the new lines will be in a position to handle a good piece of the business of moving next year's crop. The Great Northern will, it is said, enter the province at four, or possibly five points, and a glance at the railroad map of North Dakota will show you that it will take very little work on the other side of the line to make this possible. Already the Great Northern touches the province at two points, Emerson and Gretna, while the line is almost as close at Walhalla, Hannaford and St. John. At Souris, N. D. and Hampden, it is within a few miles."

"A branch will be thrown north from either St. Vincent or Neche to Winnipeg, and from the latter city the system will extend north through the Stonewall country and west to Portage. From Walhalla a line will pass through Morden and meet the main line at Portage, while from Hannaford another branch will connect with Souris and tap the Brandon country."

"A branch to get the business in the rich country around Indian Head and in the Qu'Appelle Valley, will be thrown out from St. John or Souris, N. D. and this will, later on, extend through to Edmonton. This will pretty well cover the best portions of the province and the West, and a few short branches and connecting lines between the main trunk lines will give the company a system in Canada which will put it in a position to be a formidable competitor for the grain-handling business."

"It is said that the charter recently put through the Manitoba Legislature by Mr. Hamilton, of St. Paul, is now the property of Mr. Hill, and if this is the case, and I have no doubt that it is, that magnate is in a position to go ahead and build without any further ceremony."

CONJURING CREEK

Splendid growing weather. Crops are looking grand. Prospects for a good yield are better than ever before.

The influx of settlers to the Creek and district has been enormous this year. All the vacant land for fifteen miles west has been taken up.

Our baseball team has given place to a football team this year and our boys have not had to take a back seat at any game played yet.

Humble public school closed on Monday, June 30th, for two weeks' vacation, also Conjugating Creek public school. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton and family, who left here four years ago, returned Tuesday, June 22nd, to settle permanently here.

Services are held every Sunday by the Methodists and Baptists. Rev. Mr. Scott preached on the 21st.

Owing to the scarcity of vacant lands improved farms are bringing a good figure, ten dollars per acre being the average run.

There was a very large picnic at Mr. Ole Erickson's on June 24th. Everybody enjoyed themselves immensely. Music for the dancing was furnished by the Erickson string band.

Mr. Frank Clifford is spending a few days on the farm.

Mr. Yeomans has moved into his new residence.

We note the results of the saw mill on the Creek by the new residences being built.

There will be a grand picnic at Mr. Griswold's on the 13th inst. Everybody will be made welcome.
